NEW ORLEANS dispatches of Wednesday, reproduced from Republican sources, told a horrible story and intimated worse about the alleged assassination of one Laws in Louisiana. The particulars printed elsewhere, and elicited from the victim's own mother, puts the matter in entirely a different shape, Wonder if Packard's friends will file this latter statement along with the Republican story with "Ben Butler for campaign use."

THE New York World says that the storm has begun about Governor Rebinson's head for that veto of the bill authorizing the election of women to school offices. The Women's Journal tells him that he presents a "melancholy spectacle;" that his objections are "pitifully weak:" that he seems "totally incaple of framing an argument that does not refute itself;" that his message is "insolent," and that he is "unfit to hold office." This is a pretty fair indictment, but why did not the Journal quote Carlyle, and call the governor a "miserable, impoverished old piece of confusion?"

IT is intimated that General Grant has not given up the third term idea, and that the marked attention paid him in Philadelphia was part of a scheme to make him the Republican candidate in 1880. The venerable Simon Cameron seemel to have such notion when he said in his speech at the farewell banquet, that the ex-President would come back "not only with millions glad to see him and welsome him, but with the anxious desire that he will take the helm of the ship of state as it goes to destruction." THE Chicago city council has passed an ordinance forbidding the sale of fruits or berries there, except by the bushel, peck, or some aliquot part of them, and the fruit is to be as good under as at the top of the measure. The Chicago Tribune says cheating in measure, to the extent of thirty-three per cent., is frequent, for relling by the package "is a fraud, a delusion, and a snare." The dealers do not like the ordinance, which shows it to be a good one for the public. In Memphis an ordinance that would bring measuring produce to a system would not be without utility. In potatoes, apples, and similar articles sold by the barrel, there is no legal regulation as to what the weight of the contents or superficial space within the barrel shall be.
